A FORMER RESIDENT WRITES OF JOURNEY

Captain Ray Morse Tells of Wonders of Mexican Country.

From a prosaic clerk in a Janesville dry goods store to the ownership and captaincy of a roving Pacific coast steamer, traveling from the Oregon coast down along the wonderful Mexican seacoast, visiting little towns not often entertaining strangers and larger cities where the life of the Mexican people, with their strange Spanish customs handed down through ages, is the tale unfolded by Captain Ray D. Morse in a series of letters written to the Janesville News of Newport, Oregon.

Captain Morse was born in the town of Johnston forty-five years ago and came to Janesville a young man, clerking in the Bort and Bailey store. Until he went west twenty years ago, he was a clerk in the Willard store of this city, and three daughters constitute the family. The sea called him and both he and his wife studied navigation and both are now accredited captains with proper certificates. The venture of one small pleasure steamer proving successful, two other boats were purchased and now they own three. Captain Ray commands the largest, on which he is trading through the Mexican towns, and his wife remains at home and commands the pleasure craft that runs on excursions from Newport, their home city.

Captain Morse is a nephew of M. H. Morse, of 321 East Milwaukee street, and it is through his kindness that the following letter from the Mexican coast is reprinted. A second one will be published later. They are interesting in themselves not alone from the description of the country, but also that a Rock county boy is now on the first letter is written from Magdalena Bay, November 1.

Arrived here at ten p. m. Last night and cast anchor in front of the custom house. This morning at six a. m. we hoisted our flag, blew a salute and in a few minutes the custom official came on in a rowboat, flying the Mexican flag. They were very pleasant and when they got our papers went ashore.

I went ashore with the shot gun this morning and got twelve large curlew snipe in about five minutes. Got nine with one shot.

Went down the beach a little way. Dinner was picked up quite a few shells, some very pretty ones. The weather here is just fine, not too warm but just warm and pleasant.

Made a mistake in not putting all my money into groceries, as there are none here and the people are badly in need of them. The custom official told me today that if I could spare any of our ship stores that they would be glad to pass them to the people here.

I see lots of big turtles and sharks and this afternoon a big slingshot came close to the boat. It was about fifteen feet across and looked something like the skates we have up north. The boys caught two sharks off the boat today. Something doing all the time.

There are two Americans living here in the village. Had a good visit with them today. They are both doctors. Had a nice trip down. The only land we saw was Cerros Island, a little over half way. This is an island twenty-one miles long, eight to nine miles wide and very mountainous. We passed along very close to the east side of it and the sun was just going behind the mountain, a more beautiful sight I never expect to see.

I saw quite a few flying fish along the island, also great flocks of pelicans and many other kinds of sea birds. I could never write you about one-half of all the strange things that are here.

NOVEMBER FIRE LOSS IS A DECIDED SLUMP

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 20.—Fire losses in the state of Wisconsin, for the month of November, 1916, were substantially less than those of the preceding month and also than those of November, 1915, according to reports received by State Fire Marshal M. J. Cleary. Reported losses in November were 232 in number, with total losses of $22,190. October losses were $422,455, or $169,855 over those of November. Losses in November, 1915, totaled $333,745.

Classified by causes, chimney fires take the lead, both as to number and total losses, the number being 31 and the losses $49,820.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Dec. 20.—The many friends of Asa Meracle were shocked to hear of his sudden death yesterday afternoon. He was returning on his cream route and caught up to Otto Saukerson, who was returning from town and lives not far from the Meracle home, and asked Mr. Saukerson to take him home as he was very sick. They started at once, but he became unconscious and Saukerson had to call for help to get him home. The doctor was called as soon as he left the Saukerson place and got to his home soon after, but there was no help for him and he died in about twenty minutes. The cause of his death was apoplexy. Mr. Meracle was a buttermaker and lived at the Godfrey creamery, opposite the Harnden home, on the Palmyra road. He leaves a wife and his small children to mourn his sudden departure.

Miss Flora Zuill is home from Sioux City, Ia., for the Christmas vacation. At the annual meeting of the Whitewater Cemetery association the old officers were re-elected: W. H. Wright, president; E. F. Thayer, secretary; G. B. Marsh, treasurer. M. G. Halverson was elected trustee in place of late H. E. Lindsay. The association is in good shape financially. Eleven hundred dollars in lots was cleared during the past year.

Henry Beade is spending a few days in Chicago.

BIG IDEAS OF WEST NOT VISIBLE TO EYE IN LAND OF THE JAP

By Clarence Aman.
Editor of the Eastern Underwriter.
New York, Dec. 20.—At the end of a seventeen day voyage from here we arrived at Yokohama. There weren't any buildings in sight, nothing but a million little boats called sampans, looking exactly as though they had sailed out of old prints we saw in school. At long intervals a motor boat passed, a clumsy affair, seeming to have a lot of engine trouble.

At the customs house, ready to take us to the hotel, were five hundred rickshaws and two automobiles; the latter of the type around which center all the jokes. The trip to the hotel was an eye opener. We looked around for horses, but didn't see any as all vehicles are drawn by men, occasionally relieved by a sleepy team of oxen.

On several corners were men in smart looking uniforms, carrying swords. At our first glimpse of the army we thought, but they were policemen. As we rode through the streets we strained our eyes looking for the Western ideas, the Japanese have been appropriating so industriously, but they were not in sight. Little boys were playing ball in their wooden clogs, women in their tasteful kimono, and through the streets indifferent to the gaze of western eyes; men carried the skirts of their kimono up to their waists so the edges would not be muddled by the streets. Tiny shops were everywhere.

All through the day we looked for Western ideas, but we saw only two, a member of the court dressed in a silk hat of 1898 vintage and a shabby Prince Albert coat that came to his knees. That night we read in a Yokohama paper that the government desired to show the Japanese an aeroplane and that one was being carried throughout Japan for exhibition in various cities. It would be in Yokohama the following day. We decided instead of viewing the lone aeroplane to take a trip to Kamikura, the fashionable watering resort, and see as much of rural Japan on the way as we could in six hours. We started at 8 next morning and two minutes after we had passed the city limits of Yokohama we were in the middle ages. Every man and woman was working in the rice fields or on a farm with implements which their ancestors had used for centuries. Villages were neat, tidy affairs, without factories. The only thing we saw during the morning were picture post card stands and American cigarettes. We tried to smoke some of the latter, but the Japanese matches are for ornamental purposes only.

When the automobiles passed little children—the only sign of future soldiers—they waved their hands and shouted "Banzai." We were told that when the motor cars first put in an appearance the children threw stones at them. One day the Emperor gave a decree to school principals asking children to wave their hands and shout a greeting of welcome to passing tourists in motor cars. This was read in all schools in Japan. The Emperor's greatest wish is law. Overnight the hostility disappeared and now when you ride in an auto down a country lane in Japan you feel as if a king must be riding through the streets of Europe. The capital.

Not seeing any Japanese peril in a country of agriculturists and small shopkeepers, we decided to go to the city called "The Capital."

There we must certainly see the thousands of plants that at a moment's notice could be turned into ammunition factories. But, again we were disappointed. It was more like Muncie, Indiana.

DELAVAN

Delavan, Dec. 19.—A ten pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lackey at the sanitarium Monday evening, Dec. 18.

HERE'S REAL REASON
WHY OUR FOOTGEAR
COSTS SEVEN IRON MEN

London, Dec. 20.—Kicking the Germans back across their own borders is requiring an enormous amount of boot leather. As England is supplying the greater portion of all the boots worn by the allied soldiers, the shoe factories throughout England are swamped with work today.

For the winter, the English government will require 3,000,000 feet of upper leather, 4,000,000 feet of sole leather and 7,000,000 feet of leather for the British soldiers' footwear. The shipments of such tremendous quantities must be completed by the time cold weather sets in and has forced the government to take up every piece of leather on the market.

For Christmas And All Holiday Week

Your Christmas table would not be complete without a generous bowl of these cheerful, jolly, bright, California oranges.

The organic salts and acids of the orange are an excellent aid to digestion, so the eating of plenty of oranges is particularly desirable at holiday time when one is liable to overeat of other foods.

Put Sunkist oranges in the stockings and keep a liberal supply on hand for the children.

Sunkist oranges are shipped fresh to your local stores. Order today of your dealer—buy them by the box. Uniformly good oranges—such as Sunkist—will keep.

THE STAFF OF LIFE.
With the high prices for commodities continuing to soar to unheard of heights, either by collusion of the manufacturers, the middle men or the retailer or by the force of the market, it is interesting to note that bread has gone up in cost and down in size. The staff of life is one of the commodities that is essential to mankind. It is one of the oldest arts known to man. The Christian Science Monitor gives a brief resume of the subject in a recent editorial when it says:
The question of bread, always one of the most important, has of late been under very special discussion in most countries. Its price has been debated and considered from every point of view, and the public have learned things regarding its making which they certainly never knew before. The mysteries of 70 per cent flour and 75 per cent flour have been freely and frankly discussed, as though they were after all, but common matters. Most people, in these days, are expected to be able to converse intelligently on such questions as the relative value of "best white" and "household," and on the great advantages offered by a "straight-run flour."
"It is all an ancient subject. True, the lake dwellers of the Stone Age in Switzerland, as they crushed their barley or one-grained wheat, never thought of 'household,' nor could they bring themselves to speak of 'straight-run flour'; but they ground their grain, and made their cakes, and the net result was much the same as it is today, and has always been. Baking bread, in some form or another, is, indeed, the most ancient of human arts. Perhaps the earliest form of bread, and all indigenous peoples notwithstanding, it has a right to be so styled, was that made out of crushed acorns and beechnuts. It is still made and held in no little regard by the Indians on the St. Lawrence, the United States, and the universal brotherhood of breadmaking, that methods employed in making acorn bread on the Pacific Slope to-day, as through all the centuries, is the same as that employed by the Romans in making their bread of wheat in the days of Pliny.
"In ancient times milling and baking were twin arts. Vast threshing machines, there was then no such thing as having recourse to the flour bin. The housewife and the daughters, or handmaids, first ground the grain, and immediately thereafter made the cakes. Thus the process, in its simplicity, is outlined in Genesis, where Abraham bids his wife Sarah 'make ready quickly three measures of fine meal, knead it and make cakes upon the hearth.'
"In Egypt, the art of baking was carried to great perfection. The Egyptians had loaves like the muffins of today; the roll was by no means unknown to them, and as a further proof that there is nothing new under the sun, they were wont to sprinkle some kinds of their bread with seeds, and thus centuries before Vienna was even thought of. The Romans, with characteristic energy, early took the matter of bread in hand. According to Pliny, there were no public bakeries in Rome until after the war with Persius, 111-108 B. C., but at about that time they began to come into favor, whilst in the later years of the republic they were common and were carefully controlled by the government. A set of bas-reliefs on a memorial, still extant, to a master miller, one Eurysaces, who flourished just before the Christian era, shows the whole process of breadmaking in Roman times. There is the buying of the grain; the mills busy, worked by horse or ass; men separating the bran from the flour; bakers kneading the loaves, yet others thrusting them into a dome-like oven; baskets of bread being weighed, and finally, men carrying away the finished article on their backs.
"Throughout all the ages, ever since there began to be such artists, the baker has been an object of watchful attention, not only on the part of the people, but on the part of the authorities. In the middle ages, in all European countries, he was subjected to special regulations; and in England, as early as the twelfth century, the bakers of London formed themselves into a brotherhood, or guild, to protect their interests, as did the craftsmen of most callings. This brotherhood later developed into two distinct corporate bodies, known as the Company of White Bakers and the Company of Brown Bakers. An act of parliament, passed in 1286, regulated the price of bread in England by public assize, and for nearly six hundred years, namely, until 1826 and 1836, these regulations continued in operation. In these years acts were passed, first for London, and then for the rest of the country, regulating the sale of bread by weight, and in no other way."

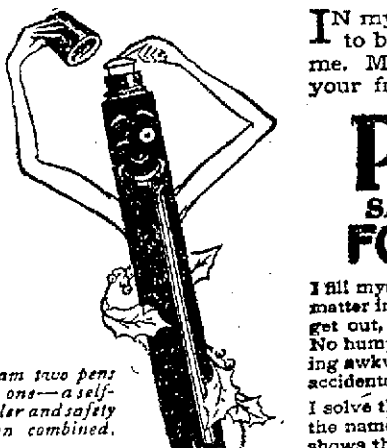

RECOGNIZE NEEDS.
Parents interested in the work of their children recognize the needs of material changes in the schools of the city. They appreciate that the home of these future citizens, for the better part of each year of their young life, should be spent in the best sanitary conditions possible. It is not always possible for these conditions to be perfect at the home, but there is no reason why they should not be at the schools. The question now is how to go about it to make them so. How to bring about radical changes in the school system that will reach the desired results in the best and most economical manner. The one way to be certain of what to do, how to do it and when to do it, is to employ the services of experts to go over our schools, our system of teaching, our lighting, sanitation, heating, in fact all that pertains to the school life, and see how to improve conditions, what to eliminate and what to add and what changes to make. This work is called a survey. Cities that have been confronted by similar conditions that exist in Janesville have found it economical to have such surveys made. They have given the desired facts and made it easy to estimate costs of changes necessary and how to go about them. The schools are one of the assets of any community. It is one of the first things that a parent looks to in seeking a location for his family. It is one of the attractions of a city seeking new citizens. There is no reason in the world why the splendid school system of this city should not be continued and housed in a manner suitable to the purposes it is designed for. Let us have the survey by all means if it will help facilitate the establishment of the changes that are apparent to all who have made a study of the situation.

OVERTURNED AUTOMOBILES.
One of the most frequent forms of motor car accident is the automobile that turns turtle. One constantly sees reports of this type of accident. It is probably more frequent than collisions. The driver seeing a machine coming rapidly, can almost invariably steer out far enough to avoid it. But he does not always see the shelving bank over which the wheel slips, causing an overturn and quite likely some fatalities.
Theoretically highways having steep banks should be protected against this kind of mishap by stout rails. Most of the new well-built roads are well defended in this respect. But the majority of the older roads have little protection to keep a car in the road. Sometimes there are old rails that would not be strong enough to hold a wheelbarrow.
It is a very easy matter to tip over a car of this kind. If the bank dips down but a foot or two, the impetus of the machine is likely to upset its balance. Drivers need to bear this in mind as one of the great perils of the road. Most drivers think that they themselves are steering well and that there is no danger unless they meet some other car recklessly driven. But drivers take big chances on going over banks and a great many get caught.
It is a type of accident likely to have very serious results. Where the occupants are pinned under a heavy car, life is very easily crushed out. Or there are serious internal injuries that prove fatal.
When a man takes his family or friends out to ride, he takes on himself a serious responsibility. A bit of this kind of driving can wreck a family and situated near a narrow bridge or roadway, or a little patch of mud on which the car skids, may prove the undoing of the party and a lifelong grief. With constant attention the risks can be reduced to a small minimum. But driving is no work for constitutionally careless persons.

A TWO PARTY NATION.
The statutory standing of the progressive party disappeared on election day, it having failed to poll a sufficient number of votes to maintain itself under the law. In addition, the populist party made its farewell bow. In Nebraska, where the populists have retained their party standing, they are now out of the running. It will surprise many to know that the populist party retained its position anywhere; yet Nebraska would be the state, we suppose, where it would show the latest vitality, because in Mr. Bryan the Nebraska populists have always seen a "white hope." He too, now seems to be down and out so far as Nebraska is concerned. The populist party was once a powerful body of men—and women. It had its representatives in both branches of congress and it secured electoral votes for its national nominee in two presidential elections. But now it goes the way of all third parties—for this is a two-party country.

DIETING AND HEALTH.
The interesting experiment conducted by Chicago's health commissioner with a diet squad is a revelation of what can be done by a wise choice of foods at a moderate cost. The squad was fed for thirty-one cents a day per person, and they gained an average of 5.5 pounds.
The modern dining table is loaded with food that is not nourishing. Cereals with vital elements refined out and pies and cakes are the backbone of our diet. People may be principally against eating much candy, but they make it up by sweets served three times a day and eaten at lunches.

Meals are bolted so rapidly that little nutrition can help build up the body. People eat bread, meat, and vegetables until they have had enough, and then pile on top of it a hearty dessert of confections. Over-eating can't be nourishing. But when a man's chief end in life is the fun he has with knife, fork, and spoon, it isn't much use to preach to him about the results of diet squads.

Among the people who look forward hopefully toward Christmas are those who expect to get very few Christmas presents, as they don't have to write many letters of acknowledgment.
Most of the food price investigation commissions have got so far as to secure roll top desks and stenographers and lay in an adequate stock of cigars.

In old times the people used to live by eating shoe leather. In this more progressive time they live by issuing long term bonds for their descendants to pay.
Why don't highwaymen who hold up the trains settle down and make more money as food speculators?

Many people have concluded that they can't have any special Christmas dinner this year because presents cost so much, and they can't give any presents because Christmas dinner costs so high.

was sitting with his sandalled feet exposed to the cheerful blaze of the open fire (see Constance Weedens' "Early Interior Decorating").
"I marvel myself at how very patient I am," he mused.
At that moment his little son, Bendel, who was playing on the floor, piped out, "Papa, where does the wind go when it stops?"
"Lots of people would be complaining all the time if they had all my ailments, and boils and things," Job kept on reflecting patiently. (See Job's Boils Really Ivy Poisoning?)
"Papa," spoke up little Bendel, "where's the telephone going to be invented?"
"I haven't the slightest doubt," thought Job, "that the whole world could be searched without finding another man so patient."
"Papa, how many hairs in your beard?" Papa, where?
"Go to bed!" at once! snapped Job, and didn't begin to enjoy his pipe again for at least two minutes.

MODELS OF WAR ENGINES USED BY CAESAR IN GAUL BUILT BY LATIN STUDENTS.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 20.—Miniature models of Caesar's engines of war, his swords, and even his siege works in Gaul are being built by the boys and girls in the University of Wisconsin high school to vivify their study of Latin and connect it up with manual training work.
Pictures which they have found in modern magazines show how many cases the warfare of today does not differ widely from that used by Caesar. The engines of war have been made by the boys after pictures found in their Latin books. They work in accurate detail, and the small machines shoot chalk missiles just as Caesar's artillery showered stones on the troops of the enemy.
The miniature siege works about Caesars have been modeled out of clay and bear close resemblance to the present day trenches and barbed wire siege works. The battering rams and long ladders, like the pictures of those used by Caesar but can be operated. Several swords of the old Roman design were carved by some of the smallest boys in the class.

News Notes From Movieland

By DAISY DEAN.

Athletes are said to be almost as numerous as the sands of the seashore at some studios. Some of the better known ones are George Walsh, William Farnum, Herschel Mayall,
Herbert Hayes, Harry Law, Frank Morgan, Art Acord, Richard Stanton and Jack Kellette.

Of these Walsh was perhaps the most famous in his college days. He was counted as one of Fordham's best football players just a few years ago.
He is also a splendid wrestler and as hardly a swimmer as there is in movieland, as his work in "The Beast" evinced.

Walsh will be seen on the screen again soon in "The Island of Design."

HART IN THE PULPIT.
William S. Hart appeared in a regular pulp at a church at Santa Ana, California, one evening recently, not as a star attraction, but merely to introduce the chief speaker, Al Jennings, the former train robber, who later ran for the office of governor of Oklahoma. Hart and Jennings are intimate friends, and the actor was invited to present the former outlaw at his initial appearance in the pulpit. When it became known at Santa Ana that Jennings and his screen prototype were both to be at the first evangelistic meeting, the crowd that assembled was of such size that several overflow meetings could have been held. The day following this interesting meeting, a prayer given by a little tot in a scene for a photoplay, caused a big loss of time and a quantity of film.

The little one was to say her prayer and then be lifted into bed. She insisted upon reciting it as it had been taught to her by her mother. It was impossible to dissuade her from giving the entire prayer, for she could not understand that too much film was being exposed.

Shakespeare was being done in the park, and the zoo provided the only dressing rooms.
"I never have regretted the fact that there was no bear in the den assigned to me," says Vivian.

Billie Ritchie, "the original," was the first comedian to be signed by "Pathe" Lehrmann on his return to Los Angeles with a million dollar Fox contract in his pocket. Work has been started on the first picture.

Charles M. Schwab's residence in New York goes into the next movie which stars June Caprice.

"K"

By Mary Roberts Rinehart

(Copyright, by McClure Publications, Inc.)

K. had yielded to Anna's insistence, and was bounding as well as running at the pace house. The Street, rather snobbish to its occasional floating population, was accepting and liking him. It found him tender, infinitely human. And in return he found that this peculiarly empty eddy into which he had drifted was teeming with life. He bashed himself with small things, and found his outlook gradually less tinged with despair. When he found himself inclined to rail, he organized a baseball club, and sent down to celebrating debut the Liburg's, consisting of embryos from Linden & Hothorn's department store.

He made no further attempt to avoid Max Wilson. Some day they would meet face to face. He hoped, when it happened, they two might be alone; that was all. Even had he not been bound by his promise to Sidney, right would have been foolish. The world was a small place, and, one way and another, he had known many people. Whenever he went, there would be the same chance. "The meeting took place early in September, and under better circumstances than he could have hoped for."

Sidney had come home for her weekly visit, and sent Katie to ask Doctor Ed to come over after dinner. With the sunset Anna seemed better. She insisted on coming downstairs, and even sat with them on the balcony until the stars came out, talking of Christmas's trousseau, and, rather fretfully, of what she would do without the parlors.

"You shall have your own household upstairs," said Sidney valiantly. "Katie can carry your tray up there. We are going to make the sewing room into your private sitting room, and I shall nail the machine top down."

This pleased her. When K. insisted on carrying her upstairs, she went in a flutter.

"He is so strong, Sidney!" she said, when he had placed her on her bed. "How can a clerk, heading over a ledger, be so muscular? When I have callers, will it be all right for Katie to show them upstairs?"

She dropped asleep before the doctor came; and when, at something after eight, the door of the Wilson house slammed and a figure crossed the street, it was not Ed at all but the surgeon.

Sidney had been making rather more frankly than usual. Lately there had been a reserve about her. K. listening intently that night, read between words a story of small persecutions and jealousies. But the girl minimized them, after her way.

"It's always hard for probationers," she said. "I often think Miss Harrison is trying my mettle."

"Harrison?"

"Charlotte Harrison. And now that Miss Gregg has said she will accept me, it's really all over. The other nurses are wonderful—so kind and so helpful. I hope I shall look well in my cap."

Charlotte Harrison was in Sidney's hospital? A thousand contingencies flashed through his mind. Sidney might grow to like her and bring her to the house. Sidney might insist on the thing she always spoke of—that he visit the hospital; and he would meet her, face to face. He could have depended on a man to keep his secret. This girl with her somber eyes and her threat to pay him out for what had happened to her—she meant danger of a sort that no man could fight.

"Soon," said Sidney, through the warm darkness, "I shall have a cap, and be always forgetting it and putting my hat on over it—the new ones always do."

It was then that the door across the street closed. Sidney did not hear it, but K. bent forward. There was a part of his brain always automatically on watch.

"I shall get my operating-room training, too," she went on. "That is the real romance of the hospital. There was a lot of excitement today. Dr. Max Wilson did the Edwards operation."

The figure across the Street was lighting a cigarette. Perhaps, after all—

"Something tremendously difficult—I don't know what. It's going into the medical journals. A Doctor Edwards invented it, or whatever they call it. It was the most thrilling thing, they say."

Her voice died away as her eyes followed K's. Max, cigarette in hand, was coming across, under the alantus tree. He hesitated on the pavement, his eyes searching the shadowy balcony.

"Sidney?"

There was vibrant gladness in her tone. He came slowly toward them.

"My brother is not at home, so I came over. How select you are, with your balcony!"

"Can you see the step?"

"Coming, with bells on."

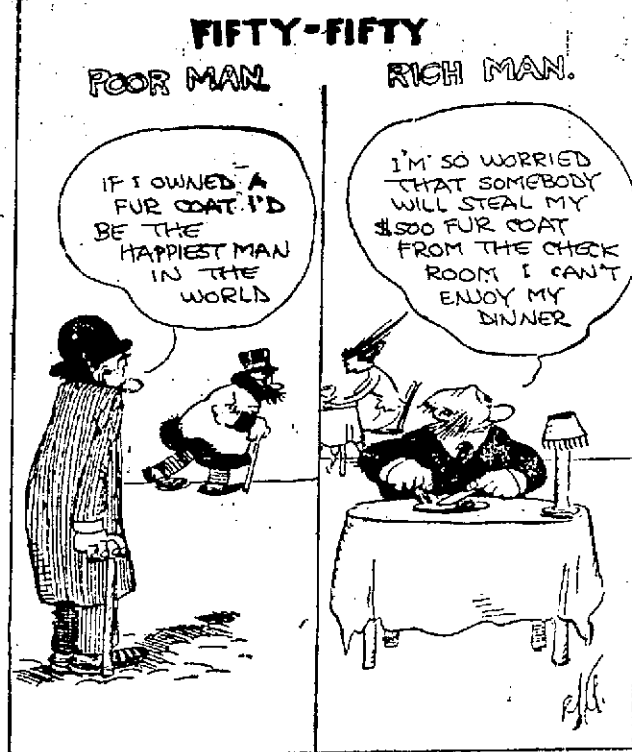

K. had risen and pushed back his chair. His mind was working quickly. Here in the darkness he could hold the situation for a moment. If he could get Sidney into the house, the rest would not matter. Luckily, the balcony was very dark.

"Is anyone ill?"

OTHERWISE, ALL THESE PEOPLE ARE INTELLIGENT.

WHEN YOU WALK ALONG THE STREET AND SEE A VERY LARGE CROWD GAZING AT SOME HIDDEN OBJECT ON THE GROUND YOU RUSH UP AND EXPECT TO SEE THE PROSTRATE FORM OF AN OLD MAN WHO HAS BEEN KNOCKED DOWN BY AN AUTOMOBILE OR FALLEN FROM THE TOP OF A 35-STOREY BUILDING—BUT YOU DISCOVER THAT THE OBJECT OF ALL THE EXCITEMENT IS THIS—

The two men shook hands. "I've heard a lot of Mr. Le Moyne. You're the most popular man on the Street."

"I've always heard that about you, Sidney," said Doctor Wilson. "I'm here to see your mother."

"Going," said Sidney. "And Dr. Wilson is a very great person, K., so be polite to him."

Max had aroused at the sound of Le Moyne's voice, not to suspicion, of course, but to memory. Without any apparent reason, he was back in Berlin, tramping the country roads, and beside him—

"Wonderful night! Will you have a cigarette?"

"Thanks! I have my pipe here."

K. struck a match with his steady hands. Now that the thing had come, he was glad to face it. In the flare, his quiet profile glowed against the night. Then he flung the match over the rail. Max stared; then he rose. Blackness had descended on them again, except for the dull glow of K's old pipe.

"For God's sake!"

"Sh! The neighbors next door have a bad habit of sitting just inside the curtains."

"But—you!"

"Sit down. Sidney will be back in a moment. I'll talk to you, if you'll sit still. Can you hear me plainly?"

After a moment—"Yes."

"I've been here—in the city, I mean—for a year. Name's Le Moyne. Don't forget it—Le Moyne. I've got a position in the gas office, clerical."

Wilson stirred, but he found no adequate words. Only a part of what K. said got to him. For a moment he was back in a famous clinic, and this man across from him—it was not believable!

"It's not hard work, and it's safe. If I make a mistake there's no life hanging on it."

Wilson's voice showed that he was more than incredulous; he was profoundly moved.

"We thought you were dead. There were all sorts of stories. When a year went by—the Titanic had gone down, and nobody knew but what you were on it—we gave up. I—in June we put up a tablet for you at the college. I went down for the—for the services."

"Let it stay," said K. quietly. "I'm dead as far as the college goes, anyhow. I'll never go back. I'm Le Moyne now. And, for heaven's sake, don't be sorry for me. I'm more contented than I've been for a long time."

The wonder in Wilson's voice was giving way to irritation.

"But—when you had everything! Why, good heavens, man, I did your operation today, and I've been blowing about it ever since."

"All a man in our profession has is a certain method, knowledge—call it what you like—and faith in himself. I lost my self-confidence; that's all. Certain things happened; kept on happening. So I gave it up."

"If every surgeon gave up because he lost cases—I've just told you I did your operation today. There was just a chance for the man, and I took my courage in my hands and tried it. The poor devil's dead."

K. rose rather wearily and emptied his pipe over the balcony rail.

CHAPTER X.

A few days after Wilson's recognition of K., two most exciting things happened to Sidney. One was that Christine asked her to be maid of honor at her wedding. The other was more wonderful. She was accepted, and given her cap.

Because she could not get home that night, and because the little house had no telephone, she wrote the news to her mother and sent a note to Le Moyne.

K. found the note on the hall table when he got home that night, and carried it upstairs to read. Whatever faint hope he might have had that her youth would prevent her acceptance he knew now was over. With the letter in his hand, he sat by his table and looked ahead into the empty years. Not quite empty, of course. She would be coming home.

But more and more the life of the hospital would engross her. He surmised, too, very shrewdly, that had he ever had a hope that she might come to care for him, his very presence in the little house militated against him. There was none of the illusion of separation; he was always there, like Katie. When she opened the door, she called "Mother" from the hall. If Anna did not answer, she called him, in much the same voice.

Sidney's letter was not the only one he received that day. When, in response to Katie's summons, he rose heavily and prepared for dinner, he found an unopened envelope on the table. It was from Max Wilson:

Dear Le Moyne—I have a feeling of delicacy about trying to see you again so soon. I'm bound to respect your seclusion. But there are some things that have got to be discussed.

It takes courage to step down from the pinnacle you stood on. So it's not cowardice that has set you down here. It's wrong conception. And I've thought of two things. The first, and best, is for you to go back. No one has taken your place, because no one could do the work. But if that's out of the question—and only you know that, for only you know the facts—the next best thing is this, and in all humanity I make the suggestion.

Take the State exams under your present name, and when you've got your certificate, come in with me. This isn't magnanimity. I'll be getting much more than I give.

Think it over, old man. M. W.

It is a curious fact that a man who is absolutely untrustworthy about women is often the soul of honor to other men. The younger Wilson, taking his pleasures lightly and not too discriminatingly, was making an offer that meant his ultimate eclipse, and dolour it cheerfully, with his eyes open.

Those Kindly Neighbors.

Wealth cannot buy brains, youth, honor, devotion, gratitude, peace, digestion, originality, justice, inspiration, integrity, wisdom and several other things equally desirable. But, still, if you have money you will not mind the loss of the rest as much as your neighbors hope you do.—Kansas City Star.

WHY THAT LAME BACK?

That morning lameness—those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and rest impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back—look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Janesville resident's example.

Mrs. Emilie Bell, 286 Riverside St., Janesville, says: "I suffered terribly from pains through the small of my back. I had severe pains in my head and my kidneys didn't act regularly. I felt miserable when I got Doan's Kidney Pills, at the People's Drug Co. Two or three boxes made me well again."

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Bell said: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they keep my kidneys in good condition."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bell has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

JUDGE LINDSEY SEEKS LAW GIVING 'HORSES' RIGHTS FOR WOMEN

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Denver, Colo., Dec. 20.—Colorado women are completing plans today to force through the legislature next month Judge Ben Lindsey's bill providing maternity benefits and entitled "Horses' Rights for Women."

The bill, the first of its kind in this country, provides that a working woman expecting to become a mother may receive state aid for a period both before and after maternity.

"Thousands of women and girls work till within a few days of becoming mothers," Judge Lindsey said today, "and then return to work while still weak. Their health and often that of their children is permanently injured. My bill would simply provide that the state give them the same periods of rest that any wise and humane farmer gives a horse or a cow at such a time."

"At present we take better care of our cattle than we do of our mothers. I believe that such a bill as 'Horses' Rights for Women' would do away with this evil. I feel that if we can get it adopted in Colorado other states will soon fall in line and it will become a national reform."

MASCOT ON WESTERN FRONT DIGS HIMSELF IN

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, Dec. 20.—When it comes to living in dugouts on the Western battle front "Kitchener" brim mascot of a certain Western Canadian battalion, is right at home today.

Recently crummy weather began to announce the approach of Winter. "Kitch," as per instinct, began to show the boys something about the real art of digging. Before many days he had dug himself in beyond the deepest range of the heaviest shell.

The work seems to create a voracious appetite and "Kitch," heavy eyes, finally came to the surface for a final look around. Then with a snif he disappeared. "Kitch" is sleeping peacefully the long Winter months away.

When "Kitch" awakes in the Spring, his friends may have gone far away. But someone will be sure to return and dig "Kitch" out.

HOW BAD ROADS INFLUENCE PRICES

Please For Better Highways That Appeals to All.

HIGH TRANSPORTATION COST

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce Advocates Durable Highways on the Ground That Bad Roads Make Expensive Transportation and Add to the High Cost of Living.

A plea for durable highways that appeals to all, on the ground that bad roads are the most expensive kind of transportation enter into the high cost of living, is the following from the national automobile chamber of commerce:

Practically everything raised and manufactured in the United States is transported a considerable distance before it reaches the consumer. Railroad and water rates have passed their lowest limits and are rising. At some stage of their journey our food, clothing, building material, household goods, machinery, etc., must be hauled over the public roads and streets. Here is the one place where there is possibility of effecting a large saving in transportation cost. It actually costs more to deliver a ton of coal from the yards in the city to the city consumer than to ship it by rail from the mine to the city.

It costs the farmer more than 23 cents to haul a ton of farm produce a mile on the way to market over the average country road, while the average cost of haulage by motor truck over paved city streets is only 11 1/2 cents a ton mile. If country roads were as good as city streets and farmers used motor trucks their haulage costs would be cut in half. They would also be able to take advantage of the highest market prices at all seasons of the year and haul the fullest loads, whereas now they often get stuck in the mud with half a load in fall and spring. These conditions have a good deal to do with the high cost of living every one has to pay.

Until the main market roads are surfaced with some hard, durable material, the country will go on wasting hundreds of millions of dollars a year in the unnecessary cost of haulage and the excessive cost of repaving the unsatisfactory roads it now uses. Farmers, dairymen, manufacturers, merchants, contractors and others will be denied the maximum economy of haulage and delivery by motor vehicle by the action of legislatures in imposing heavy fees on motor trucks for use of the roads and restricting their size, weight and speed.

Several of the more progressive states have awakened to the situation. The good roads bill passed in Illinois two years ago provided for the building of durable roads, and a considerable mileage of concrete and brick roads has been built in that state.

New Jersey is a vast truck garden that supplies the markets of New York and Philadelphia, and it means money in the pockets of the farmers to have roads that they can depend upon every day in the year. Just as they depend upon the railroads. Good wagon roads are even more essential to the prosperity of the state today than railroads, because with good roads and motor trucks it would be possible for the state to carry on all its activities, while with railroads and no wagon roads many of them would have to shut down.

Few states in the Union would care to admit that they are less progressive than New Zealand, yet that commonwealth has realized that its roads are not equal to the demands of traffic and proposes to adopt concrete road construction as practiced in some parts of the United States. Authorities there estimate that twelve foot concrete roads can be built for $2,000 a mile more than ordinary stone roads and that there would be a saving in upkeep of at least $1,200 a mile during the first five years, while at the end of ten years there would be a saving of $7,000 or $8,000 per mile.

PILGRIMAGE TO TIBET FOR LIVING BUDDHAS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Peking, Dec. 20.—One of the important "living Buddhas" of Mongolia, the old Manchurian Hutuktu, recently died and his senior disciple, Lama Akwangrenipul, is now in Peking preparing to make a pilgrimage into Tibet in search of a young boy in whom the soul of the old Hutuktu has been reincarnated. The Chinese government has granted the Lama the use of a private car to the end of the government railway in Mongolia, and from that point he will proceed by caravan into Tibet, where he will search for a young Buddha to replace his old master. Inquiries will be made by him in Tibet for boys born in a miraculous way with divine signs, such as a red light or other forms of supposed divine manifestations, at about the time the old Hutuktu passed away. All the boys thus secured will then be carried to Lhasa, where their names will be written on slabs of wood and placed in a golden urn. The boy whose name first draws out under due ceremony will be declared the embodiment of the dead Buddha.

At Least Had Him Thinking. "Don't you feel that you are called on to do something for your fellow-men?" asked the indefatigable philanthropist. "I don't know whether I am or not," answered the practical man, "but the unanimity with which my fellow men seem to expect it sometimes makes me think that I am."

Evansville News

Evansville, Dec. 20.—At two-thirty Friday afternoon the local high school basketball team will leave for Elkhorn, Wis., where they are scheduled to play that evening. This game with the Elkhorn high school will be the first interscholastic game of the season. In their game with the alumni, played last Friday evening, the local quintette showed plenty of "pep" and when it came to scrapping for the ball but they appeared slow on their feet and were not quick to see their advantages and break away. Practice this week has been devoted to an attempt to secure speedy floor work. Elkhorn is a team which is always hard to defeat on its own floor, so the locals expect to have to battle royally for all they gain. Deil Chamberlain of Janesville, sheriff of Rock county, was in Evansville yesterday. Miss Vivian Gillingham of Richmond Center is visiting friends and relatives in this city. Vacation at the Evansville Junior college began Tuesday and will continue until January third. Miss Stella Pearce left yesterday for Madison where she will spend the Christmas recess with friends. Her parents are spending their vacation in Canada. B. Y. P. U. social was held last evening at the Baptist church. About twenty-five were present and enjoyed a social evening following the six o'clock supper and a short business meeting. Mrs. Robert Smith and Virgil Hopkins were local shoppers on Tuesday. The Tourists club met last evening at the home of Mrs. F. Frost. The Chi Sigma Iota club have issued about one hundred and fifty invitations for their seventh annual party which will be given December 28th at Magee's hall. The music will be furnished by Smiley's orchestra. Installation exercises were held last Monday evening in the local Masonic lodge. C. M. Fleek of Janesville was a local business caller in this city yesterday. G. W. Curtis of Janesville was a business caller in this city yesterday. J. H. Beggors of Fond du Lac spent Tuesday in Evansville. Dr. Angstrom was an Oregon visitor yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Utzie of Magnolia announce the birth of a son, Tuesday, Dec. 19th. Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Topp of Magnolia announce the arrival of a daughter, Tuesday, December 19th. The Reading Circle of the Congregational church met last evening with Mr. and Mrs. Aza Fellows, on Madison street. Miss May Velte of Grand Rapids, Michigan is visiting at the home of Mrs. Sara Curless.

It seems most every day we see some poor unhappy wretch say, "How dreary such a life must be! How does he drag the hours away? Though I have many woes and ills, though I'm assailed by every care, beset by fate and doctor bills and have but scarce a shirt to wear, I'm not so poor as he though I, indeed, am blue and very poor; and were I him I could not try so mean a living to endure. And he, whose life appears to you but only woe and pains to give, he murmurs of some other, too, "How very dull a life to live!" And though he drive a handsome cab and though he labor in a sewer, to you his life seems very drab a very colorless and poor, yet he may know, though he cannot with every sage's wisdom cope, that seldom is a mortal lot denied its happiness and hope. Though many lives seem filled with woes, though many seem most bleak and drear, yet it's not always, goodness know, that they're so sad as they appear.

Tough Luck. "Your husband, Mrs. Hind, will recover now, I find. Though I'd thought that he would die," said Dr. Rose. But it didn't seem to cheer.

DEAD LETTER OFFICE GETS MANY MILLIONS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, Dec. 20.—More than two and a quarter million dollars worth of checks, drafts, money orders, and other valuable papers were found in undeliverable letters by the Dead Letter office during the last year and practically all were restored to their owners. Postmaster General C. Roper in his annual report announces that the Dead Letter Division handled 10,838,990 letters and parcels during the year, a slight increase over the previous year. One third of these letters and parcels, or 3,612,996, were delivered; 1,014,885 contained things of value without clue to their senders and were held for claimants; 7,093,438 had to be destroyed and 41,775 were still being investigated.

In addition to the valuable papers, with a face value of $2,303,119, found in undeliverable letters, many cancelled stamps and some currency were found loose in the mails. The stamps and currency unclaimed, together with proceeds from the sale of articles and merchandise removed from undeliverable letters, aggregated $63,665 and $11,000 was realized from six months' operation of a new postal regulation requiring collection of one cent on advertised letters, making the total net revenue $64,665. Mr. Roper says that the revenue estimated under present conditions for the year would be approximately $750,000 which would make the Dead Letter division self-sustaining.

To prevent the unnecessary accumulation of letters containing valuable inclosures, a provision was contained in the last postal appropriation law reducing the limit of time that such letters shall be held awaiting redemption from six months to two years. The postoffice department has decided to discontinue the final disposition of dead parcels by the postoffice at Pittsburgh and Cleveland. Such matter formerly going to Pittsburgh was sent to New York City, while that in Ohio, formerly going to Cleveland was sent to Cincinnati, and that from the Southern peninsula of Michigan will go to Chicago.

On account of the large growth in the parcel post business, experience has demonstrated that the accumulation of this material at the points designated for handling dead parcels has become so large as to make it difficult to find space for its accommodation. Regulations provide, in the case of insured parcels, that claims for indemnity must be filed within six months, and it has been found there is very little call for lost parcels after the lapse of that time. The new regulations so as to reduce the time for holding such parcels prior to sale from twelve months to six months. Last year 595,161 parcels were found undeliverable.

Dead mail received by the Division of Dead Letters during the year contained 677,770 misdirected letters, 115,799 undelivered letters, 238,700 letters held for postage, 440,200 letters written on hotel letter paper by persons unknown to the hotels and 104,700 letters bearing fictitious signatures.

BRITAIN HITS JAPS BY KNIT GOODS BAN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Tokio, Dec. 20.—Great Britain's war ban on importation of knitted goods will probably prove to be a great blow to the Japanese knitting industry. During the ten months ending October 31, the total value of this line of goods exported to Great Britain reached 1,000,000 yen.

Exporters have held conferences to discuss the Japanese government's drive for the rescinding of the order. It is claimed that the order is not a friendly measure of an allied nation and that it will injure the friendship between the two countries. It is also feared here that similar bans will affect other lines of Japanese manufacture.

The immediate effect of the British order will be the suspension of many factories and the throwing out of employment of thousands of workmen.

As a result of the Japanese representations, the British government has announced the enforcement of the prohibition order would be postponed until January 1. The press is expecting here that the authorities will further be persuaded to take into consideration the situation facing the manufacturers and workers in Japan and see whether or not some way of permanently modifying absolute prohibition.

To Be Taken Literally.
The curtain had dropped on the first act of the amateur play, "Ladies and Gentlemen," said the youthful stage manager, stepping to the front of the stage, "you will observe that the program says that there is an interval of two years between the first and second acts. This will be fully carried out. The leading lady has just swallowed the powder puff under the impression that it was a marshmallow, and I think it will be about that time before she will be able to go on."

HIGH SCHOOL HOLDS CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Santa Claus Appears After Special Exercises and Distributes Appropriate Gifts.
A very successful entertainment was given by the pupils of the high school at their assembly room on Tuesday afternoon. An overture by the high school orchestra began the exercises and they rendered several selections in a very pleasing manner. A chorus by pupils from the school for the blind was also very enjoyable. The Boys' Glee club gave several bright, snappy selections, among them being "Jingle Bells" and the "Old Janesville High." A cornet solo by Roy Keller, "The Old Home Down on the Farm," was smoothly given, and the violin solo, "a march," by Gretchen Erick, was sweet and true in tone. A trio by Messrs. Phillips, Davey and Richards was received with great applause.

Constance Cunningham, impersonated a very naughty little girl, in a most charming manner. Miss Sewell gave a very pleasing vocal solo and Robert Stevens sang "At Dawning" and "Because."

A humorous sketch by Messrs. Leslie and Richards had to do with a very complicated mechanical operation and was very laughable. The folk dances given by twelve little tots from Miss Buckmaster's class was remarkably cunning, the little folks skipping around as unconsciously as so many birds.

At the close of the exercises, followed by nine elves in red and white, in white, Santa Claus appeared, with hampers and baskets of presents, and a jingle of merry bells. Great merriment was produced by the appropriateness of some of these gifts and the "highs" were as hilarious as a band of youngsters over the fun of the presents. A large Christmas tree beautifully decorated, was on the platform, and the announcement of the exercises was made by Willard Skelly, president of the senior class. The program for the afternoon was arranged by Miss Donnelly.

FAUST IN ADDRESS TO SCHOOL JANITORS

City Superintendent Discusses Problems of Heating and Sanitation With Building Caretakers.
Superintendent H. H. Faust of the Janesville schools discussed problems of sanitation, heating and ventilation in the school buildings of the city at a meeting of the school janitors at the superintendent's office in the high school Tuesday evening. The entire force of twelve caretakers were present at the meeting and took part in the general discussion, asking questions and offering suggestions. Mr. Faust exhibited charts which he had prepared on the cost of fuel and janitor service in the Janesville school and which he had previously presented to the school board and at the recent meeting of the Twilight club. All of the men indicated a keen interest in the matter of improving the conditions of the city school buildings as far as it was in their power. At the close of the meeting a luncheon of sandwiches and coffee was served under the direction of Miss Matthews and Miss Graham of the high school domestic science department.

Of the janitors present last evening two have been in the service for a period of thirteen years or longer, D. D. Bennett of the Douglas school and George Viney of the Washington school. Mr. Viney holds the record for seniority in service.

TO DISPLAY CANDLES ON CHRISTMAS EVE

Old World Custom of Placing Candles in Windows Will Be Followed in Many Janesville Homes.
The old world custom of placing candles in the window on Christmas eve, to light the Christ Child on His birthday, will be followed out in many Janesville homes this year. The plan has been growing in favor in this country within the last few years and scores of windows will be lighted on Sunday evening as a feature of the Christmas observance.

The rite, which originated in Europe centuries ago, has been followed out in America after the established precedent. This provides that curtains are drawn aside, window shades run to the top and the candle placed

AND NO WONDER, for it was built by the Central Wisconsin State Fair Association, a body of officials who know what is best. You're going to build your barn of the same material, aren't you? Of course.

The big round barn at the State Fair Grounds at Marshfield, Wis., just completed by the Central Wisconsin State Fair Association. It is 160 feet in diameter and has stalls for 250 head of cattle, and a judging space in the center with seats for 1,000 people. That's some barn! It is said to be the largest barn in the world and we certainly don't know of one any larger. Out-ids of the 198,000 White Cedar Shingles (best there is) every stick in it is "Old Faithful" HEMLOCK.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A movement has been started to make the school Christmas work more worth while by allowing the children to use better materials. Some families cannot afford to pay for the material their children use, so these finished gifts are offered for sale to help pay for materials. Better arts and crafts work can be produced in our schools if the public will interest themselves in starting an art fund for the fostering of better art in Janesville schools. This fund may open a way for improving our collection of pictures. In many of the rooms there are few if any pictures to be compared with the fine products now produced for school room decoration.

MRS. OSCAR HALVERSON, Drawing Supervisor.
N. B.—Mrs. Halverson's idea seems a good one. Some of the work done in the grade schools along this line quite recently is most commendable and deserves particular mention. The results of the work will be seen in many a home where home-made Christmas presents are used and the most artistic. If something could be done along the line suggested it would be perhaps the forming of a career for some young boy or girl who might otherwise not have the opportunity for developing along this line.

Brodhead News

Brodhead, Dec. 20.—The local R. N. A. gave Sheriff-elect and Mrs. C. F. Englehardt a rousing good surprise party at their home on Monday evening. There was a feast of good things to eat and the merry making continued until a late hour. In behalf of lodge Mrs. A. Fleck in a few well chosen words presented Mrs. Englehardt with a beautiful solid silver spoon. Mr. and Mrs. Englehardt will soon move to Monroe.

Mrs. Spencer of San Diego, Cal., who spent some weeks with her sister, Mrs. R. Wright departed Tuesday for her home.

Mrs. Chester Smith was in Janesville, Tuesday and returned with her mother, Mrs. Ruehlow, who has been in the hospital since having an operation.

Mrs. L. Johnson was a visitor in Beloit on Tuesday.

and Mrs. W. L. Gehr went to Rochelle, Illinois, Tuesday, to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Will Raker.

R. W. Irish left Tuesday for Beloit at the visit at the home of his daughter Mrs. Leigh Richards.

IF THIS TEAM ISN'T SOME KIND OF CHAMP WE'LL MISS A GUESS

University of Washington Witnessed Nine Seasons Without Single Defeat.

While the University of Pittsburgh, Colgate, Brown, the Army and several other football teams are having hot discussions in the west regarding who's who in the football world, way out west in the State of Washington, there's a football team which is decidedly keeping still and resting peacefully on the glorious record of not having lost a football game in the last nine years. While the football laurels are passed around it certainly would be the proper thing to hand a trophy or so to Coach Glenora Doble and his University of Washington eleven.

The record at Washington all goes to Doble's credit. There isn't a solitary western football fan who doesn't take an iota of credit from Doble and there isn't a one who believes the team and not Doble is responsible for the record.

Washington's teams have rolled up against the heavy, well coached eleven of the east, but Doble's men have defeated the best on the Pacific coast and in the mountain states every year, some of them twice in a season. That is worth something, when it is considered that the Oregon Aggies were generally accepted as one of the country's strongest teams a couple of years ago.

Doble has coached football twelve years without a defeat. His teams have scored 1,032 points against 111 scored by opponents since 1903, when Doble went to the University of Washington his teams have rolled up 1,215 points against 100 by their adversaries. Washington has played forty-four regularly scheduled games in that period, winning forty-two and playing scoreless ties with Oregon agricultural college and with Oregon university.

Doble's record stands as the most unimpaired in American football records. It would do the eastern eleven's credit to do homage to such a football team while they rest from their own squabbles.

At the Yale-Harvard game at New Haven this fall the athletic management at Yale university so far forgot itself as not to send any announcers to the press stand to help newspaper men in identification of players. This is something that is well taken care of at Princeton and Harvard and hardly to Yale's credit.

The result was a badly mangled report of the game, which required a great deal of time to straighten out.

MORRIS MILLER

Two important things happened in the Philippines just recently. One was the first meeting of an elected legislature in Manila, the beginning of home rule, something America has never been willing to grant to anybody else, not even a city. The other important event for the Philippines was a baseball tournament between various schools of the islands. Sons and daughters of men who used to cut each other's heads and eat rivalry on the diamond, disputed their rights to hits and outs and then fraternized after the game. Yes, the Philippine girls, too, for one of the features of the tournament was a game between two teams of school girls. The Philippines are making progress and baseball is having as much to do with it as politics.

Lee Magee is quoted as saying to a Cincinnati newspaper writer that he is ready to admit now that the Federal league was a minor organization compared to the American. It is not necessary for Magee to make the admission. The playing record, showing what the ex-Feds did, in both American and National, leave nothing more to be said.

Reports from the Dixie league circuit are that it will be in the game again next season good and strong and that Dick Jemison will again be at the head. No setting date has yet been set, but when the club backers do get together they will be prepared to present a solid front. From the Georgia-Alabama comes the same encouraging report as to plans for next season.

An amateur baseball player in Cleveland was burdened with the name of Kopalinski. It was too long to get into the box scores in full and Kopalinski's teammates made fun of the name, so he petitioned the court to change his name. Consent was given and he took the name of Cobb. It's a grand name in baseball, and all that, but why should any American boy be ashamed of the name of Kopalinski?

President Charley Ebbets of Brooklyn announces that he will have five scouts all told next season. Nap

QUITS BASEBALL TO BECOME SECRETARY

Roy Wood.

Roy Wood, outfielder with the Toledo American Association team and formerly with the Cleveland Indians, has quit baseball for good to become the private secretary to Dr. C. H. Brough, the newly elected governor of Arkansas.

Brough was formerly head of the University of Arkansas where Wood attended school and starred in athletics. Wood's father, Judge Carroll Wood, was candidate for governor of Arkansas several years ago.

Young Wood declares that he isn't likely to return to professional baseball. For a youngster he has shown lots of promise.

Rucker will look after the southern fields, Del Howard will keep his eyes open for Dodger prospects on the Pacific coast, Jim Hayes will have the mid-west, Charles Moll will be the agent in the extreme north and northwest. Bill Dahlen will be scout chief and make the second group of players selected by his quartet of assistants.

Wilbert Robinson, who is wintering in Baltimore, has been remembered by the Brooklyn National league champions. Uncle Robbie received a diamond studded locket from his players last week. The locket is in the shape of a book. On the pages are the names of the men who won the pennant for him last season. On one side of the locket is the popular manager's name, while on the other is the letter B set in diamonds.

Consider the poor minor league umpire. He hasn't even a five-day clause in his contract. He makes a decision that riles a club owner in the afternoon and at night he is likely to be fired for it. The umpire in session held in Chicago, declared that while rights of players and others connected with the game are being debated that the umpire also get some consideration. All will agree, in December, that the lot of the umpire is a hard one—but who will give him sympathy in July or August?

A meeting of the stockholders of the Evansville team of the Central league will be held late in December, at which a decision probably will be reached as to retaining a franchise in the Central. It is admitted the prospects are not bright, unless new capital comes to the front. In the meantime a new stock company has been organized to finance the Dayton team and that city seems sure of retaining its representation in the Central league. President Dickerson believes the talk of various cities dropping out is only the usual brand of winter dope and that all will show renewed interest when spring comes.

HASTINGS PICKED FOR ALL-AMERICAN

Red Hastings of Pittsburgh.

Red Hastings, the Pittsburgh full-back, looks sure of a place on most of the All-American selections this year. Hastings is one of the chief reasons why Pittsburgh had a great record the past season. He is perhaps not the strongest punter in the game, but outside of that one department Hastings has not a superior. His speed and power meant a great deal to the fast Pittsburgh boys.

CARDS IN WORKOUT PREPARE FOR GAME WITH CHICAGO TEAM

Five Which Held A. C. Quintet to Low Score Here Saturday Night—Local Team In Hard Workout.

The Hamlin Triangles of Chicago are the next team on the schedule of the Lakota club Cardinals. The Triangles will be here Saturday night. In preparation for the game the Cards are being put through a strenuous drill this week. No more taking chances, is Manager George Caldwell's edict, after the hairbreadth escape with the Bushey five from Appleton last Saturday night. That was the closest call the Cardinals ever experienced.

Thus far this season the Triangles have been going strong in the Windy City. In a recent game with the Chicago Athletic club quintet they were defeated, but the final lead was so small that the A. C. was not called the better team by Chicago sporting writers.

The Cardinals Saturday night showed the need of both basket shooting practice and the development of considerably more team work. They have been developing fast in their practice and should be fit to put up a better game this week than last.

A week from tonight the Stevens Point colliery will journey here to meet the Cards. The updaters are captained by Earl Tippet, formerly of this city, and known for his ability both on the gridiron and on the baseball field. Tippet's team is composed of former college stars. They play a fast, aggressive game and have won the majority of the games on their schedule thus far this season. Manager Caldwell at the present time is attempting to locate George Young, the speedy little forward, who proved such a sensation here last year. Just now nobody in the city appears to know where he is. It is most probable that he will be seen shortly in a Lakota uniform.

BOSTON VOTES WET BY LARGE MAJORITY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Boston, Mass., Dec. 20.—Boston on Tuesday voted to continue the licensed sale of liquor after the liveliest campaign on the liquor question that the city has had in years. The vote in favor of license was 53,453, with 29,997 against. Last year the vote for license was 46,113 and 31,877 against. The total vote was the largest ever cast here on the license question, which overshadowed all other issues in the campaign.

Women holding banners bearing pictures of small children and the words "Please protect by voting no license," were stationed in the vicinity of most of the polling booths. Motor trucks and brewery wagons carrying printed appeals to vote "yes" were sent through the city by the license forces.

The Rev. William A. Sunday, who is conducting an evangelistic campaign here, took a prominent part in the fight. The Massachusetts Anti-Saloon league sent out thousands of circulars and kept a force of orators busy for weeks.

A year's subscription to the Gazette is an every-day remembrance—an ideal gift.

Buy a Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

And Buy It Now
Make It A Christmas Gift To The Entire Family.

If you intend to become the owner of one of the new model Fords at any time in the next few months—if you intend to enjoy the comfort and luxury and real satisfaction that only a Ford can give—BUY YOUR FORD NOW.

For in spite of the tremendous capacity of the Ford factory it has been absolutely impossible for us to get cars fast enough to promptly fill the demand. In the busiest part of the season there are always ten buyers for every three cars we can supply. Therefore if you wait till February or March or April to place your order, you may have to wait for weeks before your order is filled. The one thing to do is to buy your new Ford NOW.

In the old days some people had an idea that automobiles were for summer use only but they've gotten all over that now. They've found that automobiles are more necessary in winter than they are in summer, and give just as much enjoyment. You see almost as many cars on the boulevards in December as you do in May and June. And there's no car made in the world, no matter what its price, that gives better service or more complete satisfaction in winter driving than the always efficient Ford.

So whatever you do, don't wait. Get your NEW FORD NOW. Get the enjoyment, the convenience, the health it will give you this winter. Take a winter outing every day. Get some roses in your cheeks and the crisp tonic of winter zone in your lungs. Be sure to have the Ford bill of sale in the Christmas stocking.

Valuable Unused Land.
Experts estimate that unused land lying at either side of the country roads is capable in many cases of bearing 500 bushels of corn to the acre strip. Thousands of miles of the best European roads are only a rod wide, but Uncle Sam's edge trimming still is largely a matter of theory.

Dinner Stories

He had worked for the farmer nine years, and was apparently contented until his employer added poultry-raising to his list of activities. Then he had to write on each egg, with an indelible pencil, the date and the name of the hen that laid the egg.

One day he marched up to his employer and announced: "I'm going to leave." The farmer was astonished.
"Why are you going to leave,"
he asked, after working for me all these years?" "Well," said the man, stoutly, "I've done pretty near everything about this place now, but I'll starve before I'll go on being secretary to your old hens."

During a murder trial in New York two countrymen were among the spectators.

"Sure enough," said one of them,
"the evidence will convict the prisoner."

"Not only convict him, it will hang him," said the other.

"Man alive! They don't hang murderers in New York."

"Well, if they don't hang them what do they do with them?"

"Kill them with execution."

The local bigwig's presence in the chair at an entertainment was desired, and two of the organizers waited upon him with a deferential request. The required promise was duly obtained.

"You may rely upon me," said the big man. "Friday, the 25th, in the parish-room. I'll be there."

"Bless your 'art," came the reply,
"the place was lined washed only last week. You won't find nothing of the kind on the premises."

Sawed-Off Sermon.
It might be a good idea for some people to hold their tongues occasionally and give their thoughts a chance to catch up.

Need Year To Train National Guard For War Service Declares Gen. Scott

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, Dec. 20.—The national guard force mobilized on the Mexican border would have required nearly a year of intensive training to prepare it to meet trained troops, Major General Scott, chief of staff of the army, declared today, in continuing to urge a universal service military system before a senate sub-committee.

"Fortunately, the Mexicans were untrained troops," he added, "and our purpose to protect the border was accomplished by the mere presence of one man without firing a shot. We never contemplated sending the national guards over the border until they had been trained, although I sat up until two or three o'clock every morning at the war department fully expecting a message that the fight was on."

"We felt that the national guard troops would have destroyed themselves in marches had they been sent through that hard country."

"General Pershing's troops made phenomenal marches. There was not a national guard organization that could have done it. It would have killed both men and horses."

General Scott said there were 20,000 Carrancista troops around General Pershing's expedition, and 14,000 more opposite Douglas, where great American interests are located. These were the points where he looked for attack.

"We sent the national guard down because it was all we had, and we wanted the Mexicans to see that soldiers were coming," he said. "We sent some units almost untrained."

"Do you think this mobilization was beneficial for our country?" asked Senator Brady.

"I do," answered General Scott. "It was very beneficial. It prevented an attack and gave protection to American lives and property on the border for the first time in five years."

General Scott disagreed with General Wood's statement yesterday that six months' intensive training would prepare soldiers for passage into a federal reserve. The general staff, he said, a year of intensive training to be absolutely the minimum. He submitted the report on national guard mobilization compiled by forty regular army inspectors, to show the hopelessness of that system of military preparation from the army point of view.

"It is the volunteer system that is at fault," General Scott said. "It always has failed us. It is undemocratic, unreliable, inefficient and expensive."

Asked if double pay of privates would improve the present system, General Scott said:

"If you increased pay for the army to a point where it would produce a fourth of the size we must have, you will bankrupt the nation."

HOCWALLOW LOCALS

By GEORGE BINGHAM

The Old Miser, living on Musket Ridge, gave the Blind Man a wormy hickorynut, Saturday.

A stranger gave a show in a tent at Bounding Hills a few nights ago. On exhibition he had an Egyptian mummy two thousand years old, and a lady singer and dancer several hundred years younger.

Poke Eazley, while coming home after the moon had set the other night with a muddling of meat on his shoulder, met a cow in the road. Poke says a cow hasn't got any business out that late at night.

THESE MEN PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN EIGHT-HOUR DAY FIGHT

Here are some of the big men who are identified with the fight on the eight-hour day law. Representative Adamson is the author of the law now under fire. Senator Newlands is chairman of the joint congressional committee which is considering the railway problem from every angle. George W. Goethals is chairman of the commission appointed to determine the effect of the Adamson law. The brotherhood presidents are fighting to hold what they have won and to win more if possible.

MAINE COUNTY MADE RICHEST IN U. S. BY POTATOES

Houlton, Me., Dec. 20.—Aroostock county today is the richest county in the United States. The northernmost county of Maine snatched the crown from Los Angeles county, California.

The humble potato did it. Potatoes that sold for 75 cents a barrel a few years ago now bring $4.75 and farmers are holding much of their crop for $5 a barrel.

As a result of this unprecedented prosperity, Houlton is now the second richest town in the country, ranking next to Brookline, the richest in the world.

Fifty car-loads of automobiles, not drivers, are on their way here.

It is estimated that $100,000 is coming into this county daily from the potato crop alone.

This is no real estate boom, for you can't buy enough ground to bury a potato to its eye.

Milton Junction News

Milton Junction, Dec. 20.—Miss Ruth Driver entertained the "Count On Me" club and Miss Jean Hanson Monday evening. The members served boxes of candy for the M. E. church Christmas tree. An oyster supper was served.

The book buying committee of the public library met at the home of Miss Inez Brightman last evening.

BUFFALO MAN TO BE TRIED FOR MURDER

Denver, Colo., Dec. 20.—Denver's municipal woodpile today is a thing of the past. Time was when men who could not secure work were given a dollar a day or a dollar and a half in groceries to work on the city's woodpile. There has not been an applicant for such work this year. Officials declare that prohibition is the cause. Incidentally, there are several fine vacant wings in the city jail and a vacant wing in the penitentiary since the state went dry.

2 EXECUTED EARLY ACCORDING TO WISH

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 20.—In keeping with their wish that they be executed Tuesday instead of Friday, owing to the approach of Christmas, Charles Kumbrow, 29, of Buffalo, and Stanley J. Millstein, 19, of Utica, met their death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison on Tuesday. Both went to the chair calmly.

Last Sunday they requested that their execution be advanced in order that the grief of their relatives and the feeling of their fellow inmates in the death house might be dulled as much as possible by Christmas time. Millstein killed a policeman of Utica and Kumbrow shot a barge watchman in Buffalo.

MAKING IT PLAIN

The Pure Food and Drug Laws aim to protect the public by preventing mis-statements on the labels of preparations but some people continue to accept "extracts" of cod livers thinking they will get the benefits of an emulsion of cod liver oil.

The difference is very great. An "emulsion" contains real cod liver oil, which has had the hearty endorsement of the medical profession for many years, while an "extract" is a product which contains no oil and is highly alcoholic.

Scott's Emulsion guarantees the highest grade of real Norwegian cod liver oil, skillfully blended with glycerine and hypophosphites. Scott's is free from the false stimulation of alcohol and is endorsed by good physicians everywhere.
